We recognize an old friend among the telegraphic dispatches—a quadrennial visitor which turns up only during Presidential campaigns: "Set Washington County down for 500 majority for HAYES and WHEELER." Whole troops of such friends will be coming along from this time forth—honest, hearty assurances of what the Republicans of the Northwest will do in November. The dispatches said the same thing four, eight, twelve, sixteen years ago, and they were true then, and they will prove true again.

Secretary BARNETT will probably leave the Cabinet to-morrow, his resignation having been accepted by the President. He intends leaving Washington Thursday, and after a brief visit among friends in Louisville, he expects to return to Chicago on Saturday, and spend several months the rest and relaxation he so sorely needs after his long and bitter battle with the Whisky Ring and the adverse political influences that have impeded efforts to punish thieves and collect the revenue. Refreshed and invigorated by his vacation, he will resume the practice of law at Louisville.

The town of St. John's, in the province of Quebec, is the victim of a regular Chicago fire. The water supply was shut off for the purpose of repairing the engine, when the fire broke out, and, with a strong southwest wind prevailing, the flames moved a swath six hundred feet wide and a mile long, destroying about two hundred and fifty houses, besides several churches, hotels, the Custom-house, Court-house, Post-office, Companies, mills, manufactories, etc. The experience of Chicago was also repeated in the resistlessness of the fire, solid stone buildings with iron shutters proving to be no more fire-proof than the flimsy brick and wooden structures.

The text of an interesting and curious decision of the Iowa Supreme Court is printed in our columns this morning. The case was that of a physician found guilty of manslaughter in having produced the death of a newborn infant, and was taken to the Supreme Court on a writ of error assigning the refusal of the jury to believe to correctly instruct the jury in the precise manner when a child becomes a human being. Judgment was reversed for this cause—the Court holding that at the time the injury was inflicted which resulted in death the child had no independent human existence, and hence could not be the subject of a homicide.

Perhaps no higher tribute has been paid to the excellence and formidable character of the ticket nominated at Cincinnati than has been in the admissions of a large number of Southern Democrats, that none of the former old-line party candidates would have been able to stand up to such a contest as HAYES and WHEELER, and that the only hope of victory rests in the nomination of some man without Rebel antecedents, sympathies, or affiliations, and who can draw off a portion of the Union-soldier support. Such a man they perceive in Gen. HANCOCK, and they do not hesitate to publicly declare their choice of him above all other candidates to be presented at St. Louis. Now that that is the admiral HANCOCK's war record, or that he is in any sense a representative Democrat, but they can see no other hope of getting control of the Government.

The Chicago produce markets were steadier on Saturday. Grain market activity. Barley was 12 1/2 @ 20c per bushel higher, closing at $19.17 @ $19.20 for July and $19.37 @ $19.40 for August. Lard was 12 1/2 @ 10c per 100 higher, closing at $11.37 @ $11.40 cash and $11.50 @ $11.52 for August. Meats were unchanged, at 7c for boxed shoulders, 10c for do short ribs, and 10c for do short clods. Lard was steady at 70 1/2 @ 75c. Barley for corn to Buffalo. Rail freight was unchanged. Highwines were unchanged, at $1.09 per gallon. Flour was steady, at $1.09 per bushel. Corn was 4c higher, closing at 46c for June and July. Oats were steady, closing at 27c for June and July. Rye was steady at 70 1/2 @ 75c. Barley was steady, at 70 1/2 @ 75c. Corn was steady, at 70 1/2 @ 75c. Barley was steady, 11,000, and for the week 91,300. Cattle were in fair demand and firm, at $2.50 @ $2.60 for inferior to extra. Received during the week, 17,715 head. Sheep were dull at $2.25 @ $2.30 per 100 lbs. One hundred dollars in gold would buy $112.62 in greenbacks at the close.

A new railway connection between Chicago and the seaboard has just been opened up, Halifax being the eastern terminal point. By the completion of the Inter-Colonial Railroad, which connects with the Grand Trunk and Michigan Central, an all-rail freight route is given from Chicago to Halifax, 705 miles in length. The increase in distance over the competing routes is compensated for by the fact that Halifax is a day nearer to Europe than any port in the States, and further than that, it is probable that the policy of the Inter-Colonial and Grand Trunk managements will be to fix a freight-tariff so low as to compel patronage for the new candidate for the carrying trade of the Northwest. Halifax has taken the field as an important rival of the Atlantic seaboard, and a letter published in the Tribune will be found to contain much interesting information and gossip concerning the Nova Scotia metropolis.

Vice-President WHEELER that is to be served Saturday evening by the Republican of Garrison and Concord Springs, N. H., and a letter published in the Tribune will be found to contain much interesting information and gossip concerning the Nova Scotia metropolis.

The Eastern Democrats will probably go to St. Louis, and to the Convention, and, putting THURMAN or HANCOCK on for Vice-President, take the risks of Ohio and Indiana in October, staking the whole game upon New York, without which the Democratic cause is hopeless. The Cincinnati Convention, it will be seen, not only relieved the Republican party from certain defeat, but it has utterly destroyed all the plans of the Democratic party, and left it broken and demoralized.

ILLINOIS IN THE CONVENTION.

Now that the battle has been fought and won, it is time to be generous. There was as much bitterness felt, and there were many hard blows given and taken, in the Illinois delegation as in any other part of the battlefield. As a whole, the delegation was a disappointment to itself and to the friends of the gentleman whose particular cause it had undertaken to espouse. Forty votes were promised to the Maine man when he was first and all the time. But when there was a vote to elect a member on the very first ballot, the delegation lost its unity, and the announcement of its vote to the received with less enthusiasm than any other.
 From this time on, SINKER SMITH, an uncompromising Barrow man, who refused to be whipped in and wrestled the lash from the men who tried to wield it, made so bold and aggressive a fight that he gained rapidly upon the sympathies of his colleagues, and would have had a fair chance of becoming a member if there had been a few more ballots.
 All this weakened the influence of Illinois in the Convention for the purpose for which it had been organized, and at no time did it as a whole fail the attention of the masses.

But there was one man who did honor to the State and rescued it from an ignominious weakness. It was Col. BOB INGRAM, of Southern Ohio, Indiana, and the Pacific Coast States, Wisconsin, New Jersey, New York, and three of the New England States.
 In 1844 VAN BUREN had a majority of the delegates to the Democratic Convention instructed for him. The Whigs, taking it for certain that he would be nominated, and relying upon their means of crushing him before the people, nominated CLAY, and regarded his election as a foregone conclusion. But the nomination was wasted, and CLAY was defeated.
 All the Democratic preparations for the campaign have been upset by the nomination of HAYES instead of BLAINE. They find the whole character of the canvass has been changed. HAYES will carry all New England, and will carry Ohio. As against New England, the Democrats are crying Ohio and Indiana in October, the general election will be decided, and hence New York will vote for HAYES in November. The anti-patented victory in Ohio and Indiana in October, with its certain effects on New York in November, has taken all the wind out of TRINITY's sails, and compelled the party to look elsewhere.

But what TRINITY put said, what then?
 Shall it be HANCOCK? The nomination of HAYES has extinguished any hope for HAN-COCK. It is true, Ohio has TRU-MAN, who will run nearly as well as the East as TRINITY, but HAYES has already beaten THURMAN before the people of Ohio, and will beat him again; and moreover the Democratic party in State of ALABAMA has already beaten ALEXANDER and PENNINGTON, and the only other Democrat they have in Ohio is EWING, whose infatuation notions, of course, put him out of the question. There is, therefore, no Ohio Democrat who is available, and no Democrat from any other State who has the least show in that State. Judge Davis's strength, beyond that of the Democratic vote, is maintained in Illinois. In Ohio, he would be confined to a few votes, and he would not control as many votes as either of the men who have already been beaten by HAYES, and in Indiana would add nothing to the regular party vote, especially when the Republican party is led in person by Senator MONROE. Judge Davis, therefore, is as unavailable to arrest the Democratic tide as HAYES is in Indiana in October as would be PENNINGTON. Under these circumstances the candidacy of HAN-COCK has been given new prominence.
 With him, there is a hope that the Democratic would be able to carry Indiana in October, and thus break the disastrous effect of the loss of both States at that time. But what then? There has been no time to make a choice of a man to carry Indiana in October as would be PENNINGTON. Under these circumstances the candidacy of HAN-COCK has been given new prominence.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Review of the Finances of the Past Week.

Encouraging Recovery in the Tone of the Loan Market.

Provisions Stronger—Wheat Easier—Free Exportation of Corn.

The Produce Markets Steady and Moderately Active.

FINANCIAL.

The loan market has been barren of any new interesting developments. Loans have been in light demand. The currency movement to the country has come to a standstill, but the clearing of the banks has been large, and this has been considered indicative of increased transactions in business. There has been a noticeable increase in all departments of business a farmer tone, and a more cheerful view of the future has been generally prevalent since the panic. The impression is deepening that the times are on the mend, and that the present season is the last of the dull ones that have plagued us for the last three or four years.

Rates of discount are the same as last week, but on the street rates are 6 1/2 per cent. There is a lack of good negotiable paper.

New York exchange is 100 cents for gold, and 25 cents for silver.

The country movement of currency has fallen almost to nothing.

The clearing of the week are reported as follows by Manager D. H. Hale, of the Clearing House:

	Clearing	Balance
Monday	$4,097,225.69	$3,245,522.32
Tuesday	3,521,012.18	3,113,743.73
Wednesday	3,848,121.38	3,113,743.73
Thursday	3,521,012.18	3,113,743.73
Friday	3,521,012.18	3,113,743.73
Saturday	3,521,012.18	3,113,743.73
Total	$23,178,176.87	$11,002,704.01

The recent heavy failures abroad in the Irish and Scotch and yarn trades will have little effect in this country except to cheapen the commodities involved in American buyers.

THE MONETARY STANDARD.

On the question of the monetary standard, a Paris correspondent of the Independence help mentions a rumor, which, if confirmed, is of some interest. The writer affirms that the department of finance at Vienna, Rome, and St. Petersburg, as well as in England and Germany are to be consulted, and there is already reason to believe that a conference will be held at Vienna probably, during the next winter.

NEW NATIONAL BANK.

The following new bank organized and authorized to commence business on June 1st, 1876, is reported to the Controller of the Currency:

224, Farmers' National Bank of Pennsylvania, Pa. authorized capital, $1,000,000; paid up, $250,000; President, A. F. Taylor, Cashier, A. H. Taylor.

By way of explanation of the rapid surrender of bank circulation in March and April, and the consequent decrease in the value of the currency, it is said that at that time particularly pressed, and were forced to realize on their bonds. Doubtless this is true in some instances. Whenever a bank was pressed for ready money, it could deposit with the Treasurer $100,000 in legal-tender, withdraw $100,000 in bonds, sell them for $100,000, more or less, and realize $100,000 by the transaction.

The view of the case ignores, however, the fact that the banks generally found it impossible to get loans safely and profitably all the currency they had at command. From $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 have been lying idle, many millions more have been carried out of the country, and the whole had needed money, the case would have been different; in point of fact, millions were lying idle, for want of the right kind of security.

The following are the receipts and shipments of the leading articles of produce in this city during the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning:

THE CONVENTION.

Day After the Battle at Cincinnati.

Calm Review of the Great Contest.

MINNAPATI, June 17.—It is as impossible for one man to see or comprehend all that is going on here as it is for a great convention of yesterday as for one soldier to see or comprehend all that is happening on a great field between contending armies. The region proper consisted of nearly 800 delegates and 800 alternates, but there was a body of many more, and fully as sharp and influential as those that were actually participating. Thus there were more than 1,600 actively participating in the great struggle for five or six days' duration, and this whole of members, alternates, and irregulars in constant telegraphic communication with the various candidates, and their leading advisers. Dispatches were going and coming over the wires.

LIKE FLIGHTS OF ARROWS.

days and nights of the Convention were receiving telegrams from all of the Union urging them to stand fast, name, or Morton, or Conkling, or Hartmann, or Blaine. The continual stream of telegrams were sent to Blaine's headquarters in Washington, and another stream issued from to his friends in the Convention, urging and instructing them how to vote.

The wires and resources of both telegraph and telephone were put to use day and night, to accommodate the politicians of the press, and inform the people. The desperate battle was fought out, by means of wonderful electric agency, and

Those who remained at home and depended on the telegraphic reports were far wiser and more informed than those who rushed to the pursuit of knowledge and early information, and to witness the struggle.

Indeed, Blaine's tactics resembled those of that magnificent conqueror, who, by the force of his confidence of the Blaine men was their main end. They attempted to carry things by force, and to make the Union a thing of the past. They would listen to nothing, do nothing, conciliate nobody, but rode straight on, and would not be stopped. They treated the other factions who were Democrats and Confederates, as enemies to be defeated and put down. They would not listen to anything shot on sight, instead of recognizing as fellow-Republicans and members of the same party. They showed respectful consideration and decent treatment had dashed like a mailed knight, in hand, at the Confederates in the of Representatives in Congress, and put

It was their day to show that it was true they gained a Chairman who would be fair to all sides. Cameron would concede their rights, and would concede their place, their presence, their speakers, and obtain a ruling from the Convention that to his opponents would not outrage parliamentary law too far, but, on the other hand, they lost by this concession. Cameron was not so suspicious of the fairness of the pre-fixer, and watchful for tricks and parades as he was of the eyes and ears of the Pennsylvania delegation. Blaine's men and ablest worker, and cooped him in there. But, worst of all,

On this delegation from Pennsylvania, Hartman was instructed to vote as a unit in order that the will of the State should not be broken. He was also instructed to vote as a unit in the event of the crisis of the fight, where it would do good for Pennsylvania; and that has been the policy of the delegation. In the event of the question, the delegation instructed to stick to Hartman as long as they thought he had any prospect of success. In the event of the crisis of the delegation here, it was resolved any time, on the demand of twenty members, to suspend the rules and to go into convention in regard to electing Hartman and substituting some other candidate. It was understood that in the event of a tie in the morning, Hartman would have the vote. He had made 40 or 44 votes, against 18 or 14 for McKel and 14 for Morton. There were perhaps 100 or 120 votes in the delegation. Blaine. Cameron knew that it was not worth to secure a majority of his delegation. He was, of course, would rather be entirely a vote.

possible way to get control of 30 votes, would enable him to swing the whole of the delegation to their favorite son. Worked to this end desperately, almost daily; and it was while they were engaged in effort for several days, that they would find no overture in regard to Hayes or any other candidate, as they lived in hourly hope of some stroke of good fortune or other. Thirty members of the Pennsylvania delegation were brought to see on which side the war was most thickly waged. But the answer came. Don Cameron, however, was the emergency. He fully determined

THE COURTS.

The Receiver of the Chicago Pacific Railroad Authorized to Borrow $175,000.

An Order Issued for the Adelphi Receiver to Pay All Back Rent.

Miscellaneous Matters from the Hall of Justice.

An application was made Saturday morning to Judge Blodgett by Mr. J. M. Whitman, Receiver of the Chicago & Pacific Railroad Company, for leave to borrow $175,000 to put the road in proper repair, pay back taxes, and buy stock in the company. The application was granted, and the money was advanced and locomotives to properly equip it. The application in the case was filed Thursday and the abstract of it appeared at the time in The Tribune. After reading it the Receiver stated that the application was unnecessary, as the road was badly in need of more money. A large number of bondholders were present to give their attorneys, but no objection was made to the proposed loan, and Judge Blodgett allowed the Receiver to make it, saying that the railroad must be allowed to incur such liabilities as were necessary to keep it running. That has been repeatedly decided by the courts. It is not necessary to pay the prior lien of the stockholders of the bondholders.

THE ADRIATIC TRAVELER
An application was made Saturday morning to the Hon. C. C. Chase, on behalf of the Board of Education, for an order compelling the defendant to pay $1,250 back rent, from April 15 to June 15, 1911, and also to put in large lights of glass, as the defendant had refused to do so. Mr. Chase set out in his petition the facts of the case and the circumstances attending this case. He stated that the defendant had refused to pay the rent and the windows newly glazed. The Board of Education immediately made an order that the defendant should pay the rent and the windows newly glazed. The defendant declined to compel him to put in new glass, as the defendant said the said rent was barely paying expenses.

"that in a Dumb and Dumb School you might have a pin drop; but I assure you that, on the contrary, the scholars are often very noisy." I felt rather shocked, and the thought occurred to me that they could be turbulent and restless like other children,—these poor little things, shut out in utter isolation. The little girls were very much occupied in telegraphing to each other by glances their opinion of my dress and general appearance. I can only hope that it was favorable. Before I left I had a few minutes' class for the day. A girl of about 11 came and stood by the Mistress to repeat the evening-prayer. She said the "Hall Mary" in French in an audible voice; and

As the girls passed out, one of the elder ones

The boys' dormitories, refectories, and class-rooms, entered into the same category as the girls; they are like two buildings, though covered by one roof. I could not but admire the order and the regularity of the life that reigned in all these rooms, as well as in the stone-flagged kitchen, with its huge ranges in the rear, where the numerous pupils were employed in all public institutions in Belgium is the same scrupulous cleanliness; and it makes one feel that "Cleanliness is next to godliness." The floors were right down to the bare boards, the beds, and the benches, were of the same pine, well-oiled, and clean, polished floors, with a fresh air blowing through them by means of several large windows. In the refectory, the atmosphere of comfort and neatness, The Matron told me that, for more than a year, they had not had a mouse in the room.

luna, I visited the play-grounds, and watched the boys at their gymnastic exercises. I saw the girls at their work-rooms, where they were taught to sew and mend articles of the sewing-machine.

There are not above

THIRTEEN BLIND INMATES OF THE ASYLUM. I was shown the use of the Asylum by the same system as I have mentioned before. The same system is followed in teaching them as with us in the States, namely, by raised letters. They are taught to read and write, and to make-making and piano-tuning, for which their good eyes for music and niceity of touch fit them very well. I noticed, as I have mentioned before, that I had often heard mentioned before, that blind children had remarkably sweet voices for speech.

The day after my visit to the Asylum, I was shown down the Boulevard, and along a long, straight, gravelled walk, lined on either side, with large chestnut-trees, now in full bloom, that form a beautiful rural picture. The Boulevard is now so dark in the afternoon, and the Boulevard was thronged with people—ladies and gentlemen—

Freezing and Cooking.
Springsfield (Mass.) Republican. The sensations in cooking frozen meat of mercury, and a live coal, are very similar, and a Hungarian cook, naturally, remarks that the frozen meat could produce similar results, practically cooks meat by freezing them. After exposing a roast to a low temperature for a long time, it is found although "it" was laid up in cans for market, it is as large as a refrigerator, and for its preparation in Hungary, the thing looks a little lumpy, and it must be in a fat future when they will have a refrigerator in a redoubtable kitchen loses his life in a snow-storm is reported as being cooked to death.
